The infant son of Domitian is shown as baby Jupiter. The globe represents world dominion and power, while the seven stars denote divinity. The intent of the coin is to depict the child on the globe as the son of a god and as the conqueror of the world.

Rev. 1:16 “And he had in his right hand seven stars.”

2 Thessalonians 2:4

“Who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God.”
